Investment Objective

The Company's objective is to provide Shareholders with an attractive real long-term total return by investing globally in undervalued securities. The portfolio is managed without reference to the composition of any stock market index.

Investment Approach

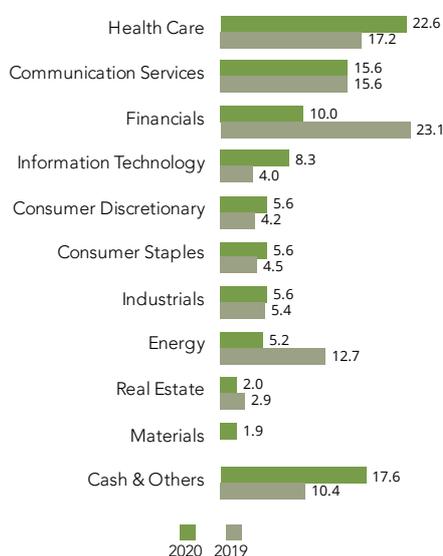

The Company invests in approximately 30 to 40 securities, predominantly in listed equities. The Company may also invest in unquoted securities, investment companies, funds, debt instruments, cash, short-term deposits or derivatives. No investment in the Company's portfolio may exceed 15% of the Company's total assets at the time of investment. Occasionally the Company will borrow for investment purposes.

Edinburgh Partners' Investment Team believes that a stock's price is driven by the company's future profits and so, for every potential holding, they forecast profits, cashflow and balance sheet over the next five years. They then produce an estimate of what the share price should be. Only if this intrinsic price is well above the current share price will they consider buying the stock. The portfolio will usually have a high active share, that is to say it will have a very low correlation to the shares in the FTSE All-World Index. Portfolio turnover is generally low.

Investment Manager's Philosophy

Through disciplined and intensive research, Edinburgh Partners identify stocks which they consider are clearly undervalued. It is their belief that such undervaluation arises because the stock market's investment horizon is too short. They buy and hold stocks based on valuation and not by reference to an index weighting. As long-term investors (5 years or more), they stress the need for patience in investing.

Risk Warnings

The Company is listed on the London Stock Exchange. As a result, the value of the shares and any income derived from them can fall as well as rise, and investors may not get back the full value of their investment. As the Company invests in overseas securities, fluctuations in exchange rates may also cause the value of the shares (and any income from them) to fall as well as rise. The Company can borrow money to make further investments. This is known as 'gearing'. The effect of gearing can enhance returns in a rising market, but if the value of the investments falls, any borrowing will increase the amount of the loss. The Company can buy back and cancel its own shares. The risks from borrowing referred to above, are increased when a Company buys back and cancels its shares. The Company portfolio is likely to be more concentrated than that of other similar trusts or funds and the share price and NAV are therefore likely to be more volatile than other more diversified portfolios. The Company charges the management fee to income. Where income is low, expenses may exceed the total income received and the Company would not pay a dividend and capital value would be reduced. Stocks held in the fund may decrease in price or may not increase in price as anticipated if they continue to be undervalued by the stock market or if the factors that the Investment Manager believes will cause the stock price to increase do not occur. Edinburgh Partners' style may perform better or worse than equity funds that follow other approaches.
